

Strengthening the Partnership between Home and School

Training of Trainers Workshop

The AR State PIRC/Center for Effective Parenting and the Arkansas Department of Education's State Title I Office are offering a half-day workshop to train parent coordinators/facilitators from Title I schools in the newest and most recent modules of the Strengthening the Partnership series. These modules are designed to meet the critical needs of parental involvement in the academic growth of children. While all Title I schools are eligible to participate, priority will be given to those schools not making AYP (adequate yearly progress).

Designed for parents, each module is less than one hour in length, fitting nicely into a parent meeting or parent support group. Training and training materials will be provided and include a presenter script, participant handouts, and an evaluation form. The primary focus will be on:

- Helping Parents Understand School Report Cards
- No Child Left Behind: What Parents Need to Know About School Accountability, Public School Choice and Supplemental Education Services (SES).
- Making the Most of Parent Teacher Conferences: Tips for Parents

An overview will also be provided on the previous modules: Homework: How to Motivate Your Child; Strengthening Your Child's Home Study Skills; Creating a Home Environment for Learning; Improving Your Child's School Organizational Skills; Increasing Your Child's Motivation to Learn; Improving Your Child's Learning and Grades, Effective Parent Teacher Communication, Communicating with Your Child, and Parents Matter: Helping Your Child do Well in School.

When: Wednesday, April 21, 2010 (12:30 to 3:30 PM)
Lunch will be on your own; afternoon refreshments will be provided

Where: Jones Center for Families
922 East Emma Ave/Springdale, AR

Presenters: Nicholas Long, Ph.D./Mark Edwards, Ph.D.

Registration Deadline is Friday, April 16, 2010.

Please register in advance. On-site registration is not encouraged, but will be permitted based ONLY on space and material availability. Space and materials will be made available first to those who registered in advance. Please fax the attached registration form to:
